EDUCATION

Pre-Licensing

YAF - A.R.E Study Sessions
Join us for a morning lecture and study session prepping you for the ARE exams! We will have Licensed Architects giving specific test prep strategies and answering any tough questions you may have. All sessions will feature small groups that focus on each of the 5.0 Exams in an order that will help facilitate each member's path to licensure.

2+2+2 Program
AIA Orlando and The Orlando Foundation for Architecture provide college scholarships to students that participate in the 2+2+2 program at Valencia College, UCF and UF City-Lab Orlando. The scholarship program is available to high-achieving students with financial need who seek to attend and graduate from the nation's first 2+2+2 architectural degree program right here in Orlando.

Continuing Education

Continuing education is required for all registered architects who practice in the state of Florida and are members of AIA. The Florida Statutes require architects to complete continuing education for licensure, while the AIA requires it for membership. Each is recorded separately, but can be interchanged, within certain guidelines.

The state of Florida requires 24 CEHs, with 22 hours in HSW and 2 hours in Building Code biannually of every odd year. AIA requires 18 LU Hours, with 12 hours in HSW annually, due the end of the calendar year. To obtain HSW or SD credits, members must take courses through AIA CES registered Providers.

Credit Provider

If you have a course that is approved for AIA CEUs, we can assist you by hosting your training session virtually. If you need help getting a course approved, contact debbie@aiaorlando.com. Once you register and offer a course for AIA CES LU's, it is your responsibility to record and report AIA member credit information within 10 business days of course completion using the Course Attendance Form. Providers must report AIA member credit information each time a course is offered.

There are two (2) types of learning units/ credit designations:

1. General Learning Units (LU): All approved provider courses are eligible for general course LU's. General course LU's are reserved for courses on a wide range of topics related to A/E/C profession, in which 75 percent of the course content is not related to HSW topics.

2. Health, Safety and Welfare (HSW or as listed in CES Discovery as LU/ HSW): For a provider to offer LU/HSW designated courses it must meet all of the criteria outlined in the HSW section of the manual and be registered as such. HSW courses tend to be in demand. For more information visit www.aiaorlando.com, scroll over Education and select Credit Provider.

Allied Advantage Breakfast

2nd Wednesdays
8:15 am-9:00 am

AIA Orlando hosts a monthly Allied Advantage Breakfast, featuring an Architecture Firm of the Month, on the 2nd Wednesday of each month! These breakfasts allow our Allied Members to learn about various local firms and potentially build future business relationships. It is beneficial for both the Allied Members, as well as the presenting Architecture firms, as this will allow firms to answer the many questions our Allied members have to better their service to our local firms.

Each month's featured firm will host a small presentation about the company, the markets they focus on and any other item they find appropriate to share about their companies. This will give our Allied Members information on what would be required to do be considered as a potential vendor on their various upcoming projects. Don't miss this exclusive opportunity to get in-depth, insider insight and access to future opportunities!

GRASSROOTS 2022

February 22nd

Grassroots 2022 is an exclusive event for leaders of the AIA. This year's agenda emphasizes component and community leadership with workshops designed to help component officers become more effective chapter and civic leaders. The Event will open doors and provide opportunities for us to share knowledge, experiences, and challenges and network with your counterparts from around the country. Keynote speakers will share how both good design and leadership are fueling the success of communities and offering solutions to the most pressing needs facing cities.

GOVERNMENT AFFAIRS

Local & State

AIA Orlando needs members to take lead for advocacy in their local communities to strengthen the voice of the architectural profession through the engagement of legislators, their staff, and other AIA members on issues that affect architects. Some of the key areas of focus for the Government Affairs Committee include growth management, historic resources, school construction, & urban design.

Members raise the level of awareness of architects in the political process and address relevant issues such as tax on architectural services, statewide code changes, or the legislative review of architects' licensure requirements.

You can help elect lawmakers who are supportive of AIA's political agenda, and most importantly, understand the nature of your profession. Through our political efforts and local input, we contributed to candidates who were major players and were elected.
